INSISTS FORMER KAISER ABDICATED TO PREVENT OUTBREAK OF CIVIL WAR

German Writer Explains Occurrences During Last Days of War

BULK OF TROOPS LOYAL

Revolution Could Have Been Put Down in Short Order, is Claim

Kaiser Fled to Prevent Civil War, Says Writer

(By Associated Press)

Berlin, April 7.—While admitting there was a difference of opinion among German generals as to the practicability of fighting to maintain the imperial regime in November, Count Schulenberg, commander of a Guards regiment, maintains in an article on the abdication of Emperor William that there were enough loyal troops to put down the revolution.

The Count says Von Hindenburg and General Groener, Prussian war minister, would not assume the responsibility for such a move, however, arguing things had gone too far and only the abdication of the former emperor could save the situation.

The Emperor, he says, was emphatic in declaring he did not desire a civil war and that he would not call upon the army to engage in such a conflict.

When internal conditions became worse Emperor William agreed to Count Schulenberg's advice to abdicate as emperor but not as king of Prussia. Von Hindenburg endorsed this course but in the opinion of some it was too late.

Finally the Imperial Chancellor telegraphed civil war would break out any moment if abdication was not announced.

Hurried conferences were held between the Emperor and Crown Prince and leading generals. During the conferences Admiral Von Hintze tendered his resignation and William agreed finally to abdicate.

In the meantime the Imperial Chancellor had announced the abdication without awaiting the emperor's declaration.

Holubovitch, claims for Ukraine all the territory between the River San and the Russian frontier and said the Ukrainians would fight for it to the last.

He declared that because of his anxiety for peace he would consent to a vote of the people if the Poles would withdraw across the Russian border and abide by the results of the plebiscite.

While in Washington Grimwood posed as a wealthy aristocrat and war "hero." His strange activities in the interest of "wounded soldiers" attracted the attention of the Washington police. He collected money for "artificial limbs" for crippled men of the Allied armies. He left this country after a prison sentence was suspended in Washington. It is believed he stole a passport that belonged to a London lawyer by the name of Grimwood, and had his own picture attached to it. His right name, Scotland Yard officers report, is Archer.

DEFINITE NEWS FROM MUNICH IS NOT OBTAINABLE

Officials Believe the Soviet Report False

Bavarian Diet Fears the Disloyalty of Troops

(By Associated Press)

Berlin, April 7.—There has been no definite news here concerning the situation at Munich. From such news as has reached Berlin it seems probable a Soviet government has not been proclaimed in any way that can be regarded as official or binding.

The proponents of the plan met strong opposition in two quarters.

The Bavarian Diet can hardly meet Tuesday as had been the program because it is not assured of support of the troops in Munich who are reported to have expressed sympathy with the Soviet cause but to have declared their intention to maintain neutrality.

The proponents of the Soviet have met with opposition on part of the peasants.

Sectional Quaker Craft Lace

Made for your windows—the exact length—the exact width. Hangs straight from the top with a handsome lower border and a dainty tracery of birds or flowers or vine spreading on up the curtain, growing lighter toward the top and finally lost in the delicate filet mesh.

Made up in 9-inch panels. You tell us the width of your window and we cut off as many "sections" as you want. The pattern, repeated in each panel, is never spoiled by the cutting.

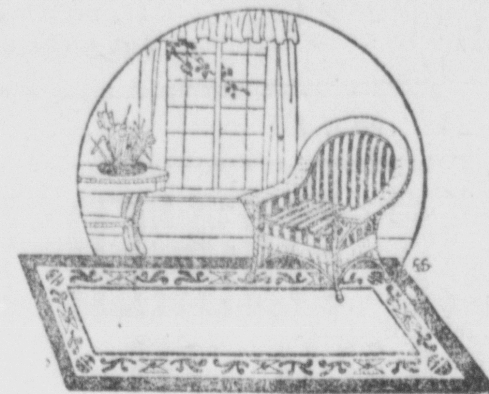

Craft Lace Curtains

America has awakened to the beauties of window lace and the possibility of the American production.

The designs are woven into these wondrous fabrics and are most exquisite. They are distinctive—different. They are in no wise copies of the old well-known laces from Europe, but something infinitely lovelier—something purely American in their concept and their making.

Quaker Lace is American Lace Craft.

WOMEN VOTING IN ELECTION IN MICHIGAN TODAY

New Order of Things Political Comes with Vote for Women

Eight Out of Thirty-one Candidates Are Women

Detroit, Mich., April 7.—(By Associated Press)—The passing of the old order of things political in Michigan was being recorded today when for the first time women were taking part in a state election, not only as voters, but also as candidates for office. More than 125,000 women are qualified to vote.

Eight of the thirty-one candidates seeking election are women, four of them democrats, one republican and three prohibitionists. Eight state offices, headed by the state supreme court, to which two members are to be elected, are being voted on. The supreme court is the only field in which the women have no candidates. The other offices are two regents of the University of Michigan; one member of the state board of education; two members of the state board of agriculture and a state superintendent of public instruction. Three constitutional amendments also are being voted on.

Mrs. Dora H. Stockman of Lansing is one of the republican candidates for the state board of agriculture. The remainder of the republican candidates are all incumbents.

Four women are seeking election as University regents. Mrs. Elsie Gaylord Houston of Ludington and Mrs. Etta Comstock Boltwood of Grand Rapids on the democratic ticket, and Mary E. Faull and Alice M. Tucker on the prohibition ballot. Miss Josephine Fitzgerald of Port Huron, democratic candidate for member of the board of education, is opposed by Miss Ruth Y. Johnson, on the prohibition ticket.

CLAIM JOHN BRYAN WAS AGENT OF HUNS

The following article from Cincinnati, relative to the late John Bryan of Yellow Springs, will be read with interest in this community, where the man was widely known for his eccentricities:

"Evidence that the late John Bryan, an, Yellow Springs capitalist, added to his wealth by championing an alliance between the American government and Germany was disclosed Thursday in the probate court during the hearing of the friendly suit brought by Edgar Stark, administrator, for the possession of securities to the value of $175,000 in a safety deposit box in the Western Bank and Trust company of this city.

"Mr. Stark said that the securities stood in the name of L. N. Harper. That name was assumed by the late millionaire, the witness testified, saying: "My investigation shows me that he got it from a tombstone in the cemetery near his home in Yellow Springs." L. N. Harper has been dead many years. Mr. Stark testified, and was a farmer in Green county. The witness read a letter to substantiate his claim where in Bryan told a friend of the peculiar method of hiding his fortune. There are other evidences the witness declared, which will show that Mr. Bryan added to his wealth during the war as a result of his championship of an alliance between the German and American governments previous to the war.

"Mr. Stark said that many of the eccentricities of the late millionaire will be disclosed when a schedule of the hidden securities of the estate is made public."

Let's Be Patient

Reports from Paris, especially the comment of the correspondents, assumed a very decidedly brighter tone during the closing hours of last week.

There was a day or two last week when many correspondents, especially Frank H. Simonds, were writing decidedly gloomy reports and were making prophecies of certain calamity.

Those gloomy views forecasting a complete breaking up of the peace conference had scarcely been published when they were refuted by the premiers who stated that the delegates had been called upon to face tremendous problems and had had difficulties in reaching an agreement and that sometimes the arguments were rather heated but that there was no serious break or discord.

While we are impatient for the coming of the final treaty, yet we must not be unmindful of the enormity and the almost endless multiplicity of problems which the delegates are called upon to solve. In fact the actual difficulties are perhaps greater than we can imagine. The work calls for not only the highest and most unselfish statesmanship but for patience almost beyond human capacity.

Let's keep on being patient. We know that the delegates are doing all they can to conclude the work as speedily as it is possible.

The Middle Classes

This old world of ours is nervous and irritable after the terrible agony of four long years of war. The people of all European nations are restless and discontented, ready to accept, without deliberate consideration—without counting the cost—almost any doctrine which offers change and excitement. It's difficult in the extreme after the fever of war to settle down again to the quiet of peace and take up again the burdens of every-day life which seems now dull and prosaic in comparison to those times of tense excitement and horror which are behind us now.

This is a time when the great middle classes of the world who are the salvation of all government and society, must maintain a tight grip on themselves. It is the great middle classes who hold the salvation of the race, the safety of all government in their keeping. It is upon the common people that the foundations of civilization are resting and they must not falter in the crisis.

It was Abraham Lincoln who said: "God must have loved the common people, because he made so many of them."

Those common people have become the hope of the world. Their simple, direct judgment, their sense of justice and right, their intention to find the way out of the labyrinth of trouble which now surrounds us may be trusted—it must be trusted as our only hope of safety.

These common people of America from whom Lincoln came and whom he loved so dearly and of whom God made so many, must not lose their bearings in the turmoil about us on every hand. They must avoid the extremes, avoiding alike the glittering promises of unearned wealth and the violence of the irresponsible radicals.

This is a time of war between two extremes of society. In Europe between the smug conservatives, who would still retain the scepter of control and be a "privileged class" and the fanatical masses who preach destruction of all wealth and the death of all the prosperous, thus is waging a warfare which asks no quarter and will give none.

The middle classes must hold the balances steady, maintain the gauge to which the angry floods in Europe must, sooner or later come to the level of quiet.

There is but one nation where the middle classes control—America. Morally and intellectually they have made their way to power, knowing well the dangers and the responsibilities of government. It is to them—these middle classes of America that the troubled world looks today. Around them the angry floods must beat in vain.

Hun Clumsiness

In a communication addressed to President Wilson "ethical, philosophical and religious" organizations of Germany, as they styled themselves, warned the allied powers that the German people would not submit to the imposition of harsh terms in the final treaty of peace—that they "preferred Bolshevism to slavery."

The Germans have had a way of playing fast and loose with this Bolshevism thing that has convinced most people that it is a made-in-Germany article and that the factories are still running and supplying a large export trade. The output is not intended for home consumption, save only on stated occasions and for a definite purpose.

The communication to President Wilson seems to be evidence that the Huns are still at war with the world and that Bolshevism is but another German "terror" which must be overcome.

(The communication to President Wilson is but another bit of bungling typical of Hun clumsiness which exposes one more infamy.)

POEM FOR TODAY

THAT FISHIN' FEVER

Don't you feel yourself a shippin'
'Cause the spring is comin' near?
Don't you sort-a feel an itchin'
For that fishin' place, so dear
'Seems like while I am a workin',
That I find myself in dreams
And in fancy I am lurkin'
Down along those sparklin' streams.

'Seems my line is all untangled
And I'm seated on a log
And I hear a croak, half strangled
From that ever friendly frog.
There's a robin just above me
Yellin' like he'd sprain his throat.
Honest, fellers, now what is it
That is getting your old goat.

I can feel a little nibble
See! the cork is dancin' fine,
Mr. Perch is having dinner
On the end of my old line.
Surely, boys there's nothin' like it
When this fever starts to thump
Soon, with tackle box we'll hike it
To that old familiar stump.

Only just a few days longer
'Till we see the dandelions
And the violets 'long the river
Spring birds chirpin' in the vines
Better get your poles together
Throw those rusty hooks away.
Give your tackle box a cleanin'
Get a new cob-pipe today.

No use goin' to a doctor
With this fever in your veins
He can't write you a prescription
For a fish pole in yur brains.
But he might say t you Brother,
"Take this dose now, twice a week
Get a pole and line and fish worms,
Take a ramble up the creek."

TREATY NEARLY READY DECLARES LLOYD GEORGE

Germany Will be Made to Pay Every Farthing Possible, is Assurance

Declares No Great Divergence Among Delegates

Paris, April 7th.—(By Associated Press)—The preliminary peace treaty will be ready by Easter and the Germans will be asked to come and sign it at the end of April or the beginning of May, Premier Lloyd-George of Great Britain declared in an interview Sunday with Stephane Lauzanne, editor of The Matin.

In answer to a remark by M. Lauzanne that what troubled public opinion was not so much the delay as the secrecy in which the peace negotiations were wrapped and the fear that there were some divergence of opinion, the British Premier said:

"I affirm absolutely that there is no divergence among the neighbors. They are often confronted with technical difficulties which can only be settled after close study. Take the question of reparation. In substance the allies have one common principle, which I once set forth thus: 'Germany must pay up to the last farthing of her power.'"

"But is it sufficient to draw up a bill and hand it to the enemy? Must we not require guarantees and must we not study the terms, methods and forms of delayed payments? Must we not be able to say to our adversary when he pleads inadequacy of resources:

"Yes, you can go as far as that and you must do it and you must do that. In a word, shall we simply present a bill, or collect the money, all the money possible? Well, that is where the work comes in, slow and difficult work, complicated by the fact that technical experts of the highest capabilities and great experience are not in agreement among themselves, either to the method of liquidation or as to the assets to be realized.

"No, there is no divergence among the negotiators, but, alas, there are inevitable ones among the experts, often among those from the same country. Who is to decide between them if not the negotiators, and do you think it can always be done quickly?"

M. Lauzanne remarked that what public opinion could not understand was why, before everything, Germany was not handed a full bill, no matter what amount, and forced to admit full liability.

"And who says we shall not do so?" cried Premier Lloyd George. "Who says we have not decided that?" "No one," the interviewer interrupted, "has said that you have decided it."

The British premier resumed:

"Cannot the people wait until we have finished our work, instead of always wanting to judge our intentions? This conference had to meet and discuss things under conditions unprecedented in history. All eyes are turned toward us and what is more grave, all ears are glued at its keyhole. Enemy ears tremble with joy when they detect some hesitation. Friendly ears half hear confused rumors, which are peddled far and quickly.

"The day does not pass but what some false news here and there takes its flight. Nevertheless, no day passes but that we, in silent deliberation, feel approaching nearer the great aim and experience for each other more esteem, confidence and affection. Let public opinion wait a few days. It will then be able to pronounce on facts not rumors."

News of Interest to Women

The marriage of Miss Margaret Carnegie, daughter of the Steel King Andrew Carnegie, on April the 22nd to United States Navy Ensign Roswell P. Miller, will bring to fruition the dearest dream of Mr. Carnegie.

The story is one of unique interest throughout the country.

Miss Carnegie, 22 years old, was born of a late marriage, for the great ironmaster did not marry Louise Whitfield the heiress' mother, until he was 52.

More than a score of years before his marriage, when Mr. Carnegie as an employee in a Pittsburgh steel mill was known as "Andy," he was chatting with his bosom friend Roswell Miller.

The two were looking over some steel rails ordered by Miller, then a railroad contractor. A young woman passed and Carnegie, glancing at her remarked to his friends: "Ross, if I ever get married and have a daughter I'm not going to let her grow to be a doll. She is going to know something about making her home."

"And if I ever have a boy, Andy," responded Miller, "I hope he marries that girl of yours, or some one like her because he is going to earn his own living and know how to do it with his own hands."

Twelve years after his marriage a daughter came to the home of Andrew Carnegie, then 64 years old. He is now 86 and she is 22, yet they are chums and have been ever since she could toddle about the room.

With never a thought of the dream he and his friend Miller had voiced many years before respecting their possible offspring, Andrew Carnegie and his wife who shared his democratic views, began to make a real American woman of the girl who will inherit such part of the ironmaster's $300,000,000 as he has not given away.

She was taught to cook and sew and clean house. When she first went to school she knew more about housekeeping than most young women know when they marry.

About a year ago Margaret Carnegie met Roswell P. Miller, son of Mr. Carnegie's old chum. He had been driving an ambulance in France but returned to enter service in the American navy.

His and Margaret Carnegie formed even a stronger attachment than had existed between their fathers. She was just the kind of girl young Carnegie had promised the elder Miller she would be.

Ensign Miller finally asked Andrew Carnegie if he might marry his daughter. Then it was Carnegie remembered the dream of over half a century ago.

Unknown Man Supposed to Be Francis Ray, of Xenia, Probably Fatally Hurt.

Sitting on the end of a tie on the B. & O. railroad near the Bogus road crossing, an unknown man believed to be Francis Ray, of Springfield or Xenia, was struck by a B. & O. freight train about 2:00 o'clock Monday morning, and his skull crushed. It is believed he was fatally injured.

The man, according to the engine crew, was sitting upon the end of the tie with his head resting upon his hands. He was not discovered in time to stop the train and prevent the accident, and shrill blasts from the whistle did not arouse him in time to save himself.

The pilot of the engine struck him and knocked him into the ditch, caving in his skull. The train men arranged for the man's transfer to the Fayette hospital in this city, and he was brought here shortly after the accident.

An examination disclosed that his chief injuries were about the head, and that a large section of the skull, probably 2½ inches in length and 1½ inches wide had been broken loose and was pressing upon the brain. This was removed and the man has been in a semi-conscious condition since that time, with apparently little hope of recovery.

During semi-rational moments he stated that his name was Francis Ray, and that he lived in Springfield. He said he was not married, and had no relatives. Later he changed this statement, saying he resided in Xenia and was married. However it is believed that his home may be in Xenia, and that he is not married. He is about 45 years of age and 5 feet 8 inches in height. He was very poorly dressed and had no papers

ALL BACK SAVE ONE

These local boys left here on Sunday, July 15th, 1917, and are just home with the famous and glorious Thirty-seventh and are now at Camp Sherman waiting to be mustered out. Ronald Dick is still overseas, the only one of the bunch, studying in a military school for West Point.

The above picture was taken while the boys were waiting for the 10:47 B. & O. train which took them to camp to train for war.

nor any thing of value upon his person.

A coat he wore bore the name of F. H. Brown, and was made by Murray & Ramsay, tailors, of Springfield.

Inquiry made in Xenia by The Herald elicits the information that Francis Ray formerly lived in Xenia, and moved to Springfield some three years ago.

He is married and has six children according to the information from Xenia, and it is presumed that his home is still in Springfield, although so far efforts have failed to get in communication with them.

MUSICAL COMEDY

A new military musical comedy from the pen of L. B. Parker and W. R. Williams will no doubt be gratefully received by the public.

The new musical comedy is called "My Sammy Girl" and will be the attraction at the New Murphy Theatre, Wilmington, Thursday, April 10. Miss Madeline Lefere, the clever young actress, will have the title role. Miss Lefere has been surrounded by an exceptionally clever company and an unusually large singing and dancing chorus.

A special hit is the dainty Kellerman Girls on the diving board out over the heads of the audience.

WORKMEN BUSY ON FOUNDATION WALLS

The work on the new Washington Savings Bank building is now under way and the workmen are making rapid progress.

The work of excavating has been completed and the task of putting in the concrete foundations has been started.

The hoisting apparatus which will be used in handling the building materials is attracting much attention. Tons of material such as sand and gravel have been placed on the street and the completion of the new bank will be pushed forward as speedily as possible.

SUES FOR DIVORCE

"Suit for divorce against John B. Baggeley, now living in St. Louis, was filed yesterday by Mrs. Jane Leach Baggeley, daughter of the late Dr. Sherman Leach, North Side surgeon. They were married August 14, 1915. Mrs. Baggeley charges he failed to support her. She gave him $4,000 in 1916, she says, to engage in business, but he neglected his affairs and the business was closed out."—Ohio State Journal.

RAINBOW VETS. STREAM ACROSS FRANCE TO BREST

Famous Fighting Units Are on Way Home at Last

Regulars Will Stick on Rhine Until Peace Signed

(By Associated Press)

Coblenz, April 7.—Two more trainloads of happy smiling soldiers of the Forty-second (Rainbow) Division started for home Saturday afternoon by way of Brest. The soldiers composed the One Hundred and Sixty-fifth Infantry Regiment, New York City's famous old Sixty-ninth Division Headquarters and attached units left Saturday morning.

There were cheers, but no tears, as the train pulled out. The soldiers were in the highest spirits as they waved farewells to their comrades who are to follow within the next few days. German civilians stood in the background, but gave no indication of their feelings.

In the railroad yards near Remagen where the soldiers of the Rainbow Division boarded the trains for Brest, there are a number of soldiers from the Fourth (Regular) Division who are scheduled to stay on the Rhine "until the job is done."

They looked on with grim faces as the trains pulled out. The Rainbow Division has turned over to the Fourth Division all prisoners in its care. Among them was the Burgomaster of Alweiller, who is serving a sentence for having endeavored to conceal German army property from the Americans.

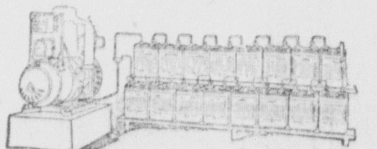

Major General Flagler, the commander of the Rainbow Division, left Alweiller several weeks ago and is expected to land in Boston next week, to make preparations for the landing of his troops. It is not known here where the various units will disembark, both New York and Boston being mentioned.

The Thirty-third Division of the American Army, consisting principally of Illinois National Guardsmen, who are holding part of Luxembourg under the Third Army, has been ordered to begin preparations for returning to France, according to a General Headquarters dispatch received today. It is expected that the division will require about two weeks in order to be ready for training.

$23,500 ASKED OF FRANKFORTER ON FARM DEAL

Elmer Junk Brings Action Against Chas. D. Tinker Over Alleged Breach of Contract.

Asks Half of Profit on Huge Estate Sold in Ross County.

An action for $23,500 was filed by Elmer Junk in common pleas court Monday, in which Charles D. Tinker of Frankfort, is made defendant as result of alleged breach of contract in a big farm deal consummated in Franklin township, Ross county, recently.

According to the petition of the plaintiff he entered into a contract with the defendant whereby the defendant was to procure an option on some 1432 acres in Franklin township, Ross county, and at a price of $53,000, and the plaintiff and defendant were to share in profits originating from a resale of the tract. The contract was entered into March 20, 1919, it is set forth, and on March 29th defendant reported having procured for plaintiff the necessary option for 60 days, at $59,000 instead of $53,000.

Defendant is alleged to have agreed with plaintiff at that time to divide the profits and plaintiff was to procure a buyer.

Plaintiff claims that on April 3rd he obtained buyers for the tract at $100,000 and acquainted defendant with the facts, arranging for a meeting for completion of the transaction.

The defendant, it is charged, did not appear to conclude the deal and investigation disclosed that he had sold the estate to other parties, presumably at fully $100,000.

Plaintiff declares that he believes he original option was obtained at $53,000 instead of $59,000, and that he defendant sold the property at a profit of at least $47,000, and that by reason of his agreement with defendant, defendant is indebted to him in the sum of $23,500 for which amount he asks judgment.

Post and Reid and Logan and Junk represent the plaintiff.

RUFUS CAMERON SEVER DIES IN COLUMBUS

Relatives and friends here received Sunday the sad news of the death of Rufus Cameron Sever, son of Mrs. Carrella Sever, now of Detroit, Mich., at a Columbus hospital, where he had or some time been taking treatment for Bright's Disease. A sudden attack of the influenza resulted fatally at 9 o'clock Sunday morning.

Mr. Sever's death is the first break in a family of nine children of which he is the youngest son. Those who survive with the mother are Mrs. Bert Harper, La Fontaine, Ind., Mrs. Tom Towan, Mrs. Compton Aldridge, Mrs. Frank Swayzee of Detroit, Michigan, Milton of Denver, Frank of Detroit, Loren of Columbus and Fay of this city. He was a nephew of Mrs. R. C. Hunt and Miss Anne Saxton.

The greater part of his life spent in his city where his boyhood was spent and a likable, genial young fellow. Mr. Sever's death is learned with much regret, especially among the young men of his most intimate association. He was in business in Detroit, the home of his mother in late years, at the time his health broke down some time ago, and before that had been ticket man with the Barum and Bailey Circus. He was a member of the New York Lodge of Elks.

The body will be brought down from Columbus late Monday afternoon or Tuesday morning by Mr. Art Murray and taken to the home of his brother Fay.

Mrs. Sever and daughters and the sons in Detroit and Columbus also arrived Monday afternoon. Funeral arrangements will be made later.

ANNUAL MEETING IS POSTPONED

The annual meeting of the Chillicothe Presbytery scheduled to meet in Bainbridge the 8th and 9th of this month, has been indefinitely postponed owing to the epidemic of the influenza in Bainbridge.

Beautiful OhioPopular Song Hits

One of the most beautiful imaginative songs written for a very long time is, "I'm Forever Blowing Bubbles." We have all built our castles and blown our bubbles of fancy into the air, only to find, in the words of the song, "fortune's always hiding." There is nothing sad, however, in this exquisitely harmonized ballad. It is beautiful in thought and music. A certain famous "birch canoe" seems to be floating down the "Beautiful Ohio" in the coupling of the title—a love song of real melody. This combination is charming.

The Perfect Dance Record

"those irresistible waltzes that first catch the ear, and then curl around the heart, till on a sudden they invade and will have legs."

Not the most elegant description of waltz music, but we do not know but that it is a very true one. Of all the dance music of the world, the one which most nearly "curls round the heart" is the waltz. From the days when each Viennese waltz was the musical sensation of all Europe, thru the 19th century when the waltz, to the exclusion of almost every other form, was the popular dance, till today where in spite of all novelties it still reigns high, the waltz has been man's most popular dance. The gift of rhythm with which Charles A. Prince is blessed has given Columbia lists some of the greatest waltz records of the day. One of those, without exception, is the coupling of the month, "The Rose of No Man's Land," and "Till We Meet Again," with its introduced numbers.

A GOOD WAY TO SAVE

"In times like these when economy is so essential, I know of no better way to save than to have the entire family shod with Neolin Soles," writes B. F. Williams, Rochester, N. Y.

In his letter Mr. Williams tells of a pair of Neolin-soled shoes which he has worn constantly for four months.

"The soles still look like new," he says. You, too, will think there is no better way to save, when once you have tried shoes with these long-wearing, comfortable, and waterproof soles. They come in many styles for every member of the family. And good repair shops carry Neolin Soles for resoling. They are made scientifically by The Goodyear Tire & Rubber Co., Akron, Ohio, who also make Wingfoot Heels—guaranteed to outwear all other heels.

MAN IS INJURED HORSE IS KILLED IN CRASH IN CITY

Carey McGonigle, residing on the Prairie pike two miles north of this city, was badly injured, his horse injured so that it was necessary to kill it, and his buggy torn to pieces, about eleven o'clock Sunday night, when struck by an automobile driven by Arthur Rothrock, who, it seems, was in the act of going around another machine and did not see the buggy in time to keep from striking it.

Mr. McGonigle's left leg was fractured below the knee and he was injured about the head, besides sustaining painful bruises about the body.

The Rothrock car, which was going rapidly at the time, was thrown into the curb, and climbed the curb, finally landing in a vacant lot on its side. The driver escaped injury. The McGonigle buggy, it is claimed, bore no light.

Mr. McGonigle was brought up town to a physician's office and his injuries given attention.

THREE KILLED IN MOTOR ACCIDENT

Columbus, O., April 7.—Three dead, three seriously hurt and a half dozen others injured was the toll of yesterday's automobile accidents in and near Columbus.

Frank E. Masterson, aged 45; his wife, Hazel, aged 28, and their daughter Grace, aged 6, Newark residents, are dead.

In the same accident Harriett Davis, aged 6, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. Porter Davis, 1810 Oak Street, was injured seriously and may not recover, it was said.

Henry Wittenmeier, 60 years old, address unknown, and David Sells, aged 31, 24 South Skidmore Street, were hurt seriously in two other accidents. The outcome of their cases is in doubt.

COMPLAINT MADE AGAINST SPEEDERS

Complaints are being made that automobile racing and speeding generally have been disturbing the slumbers of local citizens along the paved streets, and endangering the lives of those using the streets.

Cars roaring along the streets at 50 miles per hour has not been an uncommon thing of late, and there is a general desire to know what has become of the motor cop recently authorized by council.
